Style manual for APA for citations and bibliographies

- Use “Help” links found in various databases to format citation style or save citation for a bibliography

The screenshot shows the ProQuest database interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs: Basic, Advanced, Topics, Publications, and My Research. Below these, there are links for 'Databases selected: Multiple databases...', 'Document View', and 'Cite this'. The main content area displays the citation information for a document titled 'Cross-functionality in Taiwan's information technology industries' by Chuan Lee and Wen-Jung Chen. The citation is shown in APA style, and there is a dropdown menu to change the citation style to APA. Below the citation, there is a section for 'Copy citation below & paste into your document:' which contains the full citation text. To the right, there is a 'Check for full text' link and a 'Documents like this:' section. At the bottom, there is an 'Indexing (document details)' section with a 'Subjects:' field.
