A Reading for Lent

And Jesus said, “Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.”
Luke 23:34a (English Standard Version)

“The hardest commandment to keep is this one: love your enemies. But this is not a commandment; it is a description of God. It is what God is all about. He loves His enemies because they are His enemies. He is not their enemy. He has no enemies. This is what the cross is all about. John says that we should not be surprised that the world hates us. It comes with being God’s children. What they did to Jesus, God’s only Son, they do to us. They might hate us but we do not hate them because God has already forgiven them. Even if you know all of the doctrines of the church and your life is of the highest moral quality if you do not know love, mercy, and forgiveness, you do not understand Christianity. But this is not the end of the story.... Nothing I have said is new to you. You all know this, ‘And forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us.’”

Scaer, David P. (2004) In Christ: The Selected Works of David P. Scaer, Lutheran Confessor.
Concordia Catechetical Academy.

Lent is a time to consider our trespasses and our efforts to forgive others. May God bless each of you in these days of the Lenten season – as we forgive one another and realize that we still fall short; and as we look forward to the Easter celebration!

Lonn Maly, Vice President for Academic Affairs

CSP Ministry

Chapel Schedule

Monday through Friday: 11:00 am to 11:20 am
Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays at 10:00 pm
Wednesdays at 9:08 pm

Evening Worship on Wednesdays at 9:08 pm is contemporary with a worship band.
Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays are student led and use the orders of Compline, Taize, and Holden Evening Prayer.

“This Lent, give up time.”

As the CSP Ministry staff and Student Ministry Support team thought of Lent, the thought of giving up time “worked.”

1. We can't give up time. It keeps going. That's a lesson in humility, that we are the lords not even of our own time. The God who created time initially sustains time and us in it.
2. We can choose what to do with our time. For what would we give it up?
To be sure, for the remainder of Lent CSP offers regular worship, mornings at 11:00 for twenty minutes or so; and evenings at 9:08 or 10:00 pm.

You could give up time to help a neighbor, time out from digital media, or time “in” digital media to help a neighbor, to like some FB friends, etc.

You could give up fifteen minutes on a Wednesday morning (7:40) or evening (5:00) for a short Psalm service in the chapel.

3. The Lenten logo designed by a Ministry Support student keeps us in touch with God who has shown that He endures beyond time, and that He endures our suffering and sin, for our freedom.

CSP Pastor Call Committee

The CSP Pastor Call Committee, convened by President Tom Ries, has chosen four pastors to make a visit to campus during March. A schedule will be posted for each visit. In general, when a candidate comes, he will present his view of CSP ministry at 9:00 am and will preach in the 11:00 am morning worship. The schedule will also include Q & A time with faculty, staff and students.

While CSP has a long tradition of faithful spiritual leadership a new dimension of the work is a recognition of the university-wide, strategic role of CSP Ministry as much more than “on campus” ministry. By what tactics, by what specific choices can the CSP Pastor and Ministry Team support the University Strategic Plan, including resourcing faculty as they teach? You are invited to join the conversation.

In addition to CSP Pastor candidates preaching during March, the Lenten planning team has invited a number of area pastors to speak. These include Rev. Mark Tewes, brother of Dr. Doug Tewes who will speak in the convocation on March 20 about the physical death of Jesus.

Minnesota Private College Council Day at the Capitol – March 20

Each year the Minnesota Private College Council (MPCC) sponsors an opportunity for students, faculty, staff, and alumni from its member schools to participate in an advocacy project in support of the Minnesota State Grant Program. The main focus is on having Minnesota residents who are recipients of the State Grant meet with their legislators and to let them know how important the program is for both college access and college choice. Because of Concordia’s student demographics, the State Grant is particularly important to us. Without the program there would be a significant number of undergraduate students who would be unable to attend CSP.

This year Concordia University’s Day at the Capitol is scheduled for Wednesday, March 20 from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. Student participants receive an orientation to the legislative process and have an appointment scheduled with their own state senator or representative. After the appointments there is a debriefing session facilitated by MPCC staff. Concordia’s initiative is supported by the office of Financial Aid, the Student Senate, the CALL Center, Student Life, Academic Affairs, the President’s office, and individual faculty members who have made the Day at the Capitol part of course experiences. Dr. David Woodard has provided special encouragement to political science students participating in the Day at the Capitol activities.

Please encourage students in your classes to take part in Concordia’s Day at the Capitol and to participate yourself if schedules permit. Our goal is to have at least 50 participants.

2012/13 Book of the Year

The Book of the Year for 2012/13 is Picking Cotton: Our Memoir of Injustice and Redemption by Jennifer Thompson and Ronald Cotton with Erin Torneo. Concordia University's theme for the 2012/13 year "Our Refuge and Strength" can be found throughout this story of resilience, forgiveness, and redemption.

"A rape victim and the man she falsely accused – in good faith – collaborate to share an important, affecting story of fatally mistaken identity.... Injustice and redemption are overused words, but this heartfelt joint memoir justifies its subtitle."
Kirkus Reviews

"This book will break your heart and lift it up again...a touching and beautiful example of the power of faith and forgiveness. Its message of hope should reverberate far beyond the halls of justice."
Sister Helen Prejean, CSJ, Author of Dead Man Walking

Burkart is Professor of Educational Media/Communications Emeritus, and current CSP Artist-in-Residence. A reception in the Buenger Education Center (BEC) will follow the event.

Annual Research and Scholarship Symposium – Participation Deadlines and Procedures

The Annual Concordia University Research and Scholarship Symposium will be held on Wednesday, April 17. This is an opportunity for undergraduate students to showcase the research and/or scholarship that they have completed either in the context of a course or with a faculty mentor. Research is typically displayed using a poster format, but other display needs can be accommodated. Questions can be directed to Rob Krueger (rkrueger@csp.edu) or David Woodard (Woodard@csp.edu).

Deadline for Registration: Wednesday, March 27

Deadline for Poster Submission: Monday, April 8

Please read the following carefully:

1. All registrations and submissions must be made through the faculty mentor. Students will not be permitted to self-register or self-submit. Mentors must submit their registrations using an Excel spreadsheet, which is available by request from Rob Krueger (rkrueger@csp.edu).
2. All deadlines will be enforced. Posters may be submitted via e-mail to rkrueger@csp.edu or via data CD/DVD to Rob Krueger (now in Luther 110).
3. All posters and other projects must demonstrate a level of scholarship that is considerably above what we would normally expect from a general education class. Posters from general education classes may be accepted, but they must be well above the average quality expected for such a course. Faculty should choose the best from the class to showcase. We will not place a limit at this time but a rule of thumb would be no more than 50% of the posters from any one class.
4. The organizers reserve the right to remove any poster that, in their opinion, is not of acceptable quality.
5. Any special display requests (need outlet, class posters grouped together, etc.) must be stated when the project is submitted. Outlets are in short supply so we can't promise electricity. Laptops should come fully charged.

We will be organizing a faculty committee to judge the posters and present awards to the top submissions. The goal of these awards is to reward quality work both by students in preparing their submissions, and by mentors who seek to teach top-flight research, scholarship and presentation skills. A rubric has been created which the faculty committee will use to judge the posters. The rubric will be sent to each faculty mentor when the registration form is received or by request to Rob Krueger (rkrueger@csp.edu) or David Woodard (woodard@csp.edu).

Attendance Monitoring Requirement

As has been noted at the Faculty Workshop, Orientations, etc., Concordia University, as a recipient of federal financial aid, is required to monitor student attendance. Based upon the current federal standards, regulations stipulate records be fully maintained by all instructors which can clearly identify last date of attendance. We are also obligated, as teaching faculty, to follow up with students not attending class and report students with excessive absences to Renee Rerko, Director of Traditional Advising. Send an email to Renee at Rerko@csp.edu or advising@csp.edu to report problem attendance. Faculty need to notify Renee if:

- a student has not attended your class at all after the first week of the semester a student misses more than two weeks of class in a row

The student will then be contacted to better understand his or her intentions to remain a student at CSP. If you have any questions, please contact Renee at rerko@csp.edu or 651-603-6318.

Network of Executive Women Spring Mentoring Event

The Network of Executive Women (“NEW”) is partnering once again with Concordia University for a spring mentoring event on Monday, March 18, 2013, from 5:30 – 8:00 pm in the BEC. NEW has a simple yet powerful mission “... to attract, retain and advance women in the retail and consumer products industry through education, leadership and business development”. However, in the same spirit as Concordia University – ‘all are welcome’!

Over 100 students participated in the October NEW event. It featured Twin City women business leaders including Deb Herrera, VP-Finance and CFO – Schwan’s Consumer Brand and Pauline Allison, 3M, Corporate Marketing Director as the panelists. Along with other NEW mentors they joined our students for an evening focused on THE POWER OF PERSONAL CONNECTION! Past NEW events have resulted in internship and employment opportunities for Concordia students and we continue to explore networking possibilities throughout the year. It is a robust organization that supports our goals for positive student outcomes within the strategic plan. Please invite those students that you believe would benefit from this association and opportunity to learn from the success of these prominent local business executives. We would also be pleased if you could attend and meet some of the College/Student Outreach members of NEW.

Panel speakers for the spring event are: Diane Harper, Vice President of Consumer Insights and Marketing Integration at Schwan's Consumer Brands, Inc.; and Annalee Ulsrud, Vice President/Retail and Experiential and Events at Periscope and the Co-Chair, Twin Cities Network of Executive Women.

There will also be eight representatives from other Twin Cities consumer product goods companies leading the roundtable discussions. These were the highlight of the past events so we have expanded this portion of the evening. Panelists in the past have come from companies such as Target, Coca Cola, Colgate Palmolive, McKinley Group, General Mills, Deloitte and many other organizations known by our students. The event Registration begins at 5:30 p.m. with the Panel starting at 6:00 p.m. focusing on how 'to move your career forward'.

This has become a wonderful networking opportunity for our students and a partnership outreach for Concordia's College of Business. I realize how hectic your calendar can become so I wanted to make sure that you had notification. It would be wonderful if you could attend a portion of the evening. Here is a link to their national site: <http://www.newonline.org/> and we are part of the Twin Cities chapter.

Contact Christine Kudelka at kudelka@csp.edu if you have questions or would like posters or flyers. Please pass this along to others that you believe may be interested in this event.

A Perspective on Lutheran Colleges

An excerpt from a book entitled, The Gift and Task of Lutheran Higher Education:

I do not think that evidences of religiousness address the heart of what it means for a college or university to be Lutheran. They may be very important, but I do not believe they are essential. Most of the Lutheran colleges and universities in the United States are less religious than they used to be. That, by itself, is not a sign that they are less Lutheran. In some cases it may even be a sign that they are more so.

“How many Lutherans are there?” This is a question that is sometimes posed about students, sometimes about faculty, sometimes about key administrators. What it assumes is that higher education is Lutheran in proportion to how much it is for Lutherans or by Lutherans. But it has been my experience that some of the most essential people in maintaining the Lutheran character of an academic community may not be the Lutherans who are there. Counting Lutherans also relies on the assumption that people who call themselves Lutheran are, in every important sense, alike. My experience is that this is not the case at all. There may be a wider variance between nominal Lutherans than between a Lutheran and a Buddhist, or a Lutheran and an Evangelical, or a Lutheran and a Catholic.

Many are the times I have heard an argument for a “critical mass” of Lutherans on any given campus. In one way that is a proposition that is true by definition. That is, “How many Lutherans are necessary?” can always be answered, “Enough to make it work.” But frequently the critical-mass metaphor is introduced as an argument for a particular percentage of faculty or students at that the institution is trying to reach. That seems to me to be a misapplication of the idea. I would ask instead, “How many engaged, articulate people in what positions are required to keep the Lutheran dialogue alive?”

Christenson, Tom. (2010). The Gift and Task of Lutheran Higher Education. Minneapolis, MN: Augsburg Fortress; pp. 13-14

So what does this mean for us at Concordia University in 2013? Is Christenson accurate in his thinking and what he writes?

If you are interested in questions such as these and can spare some time each month, please feel free to join the Concordia Learning Community (CLC) group that considers such matters once a month or so. Contact Lonn Maly if you are interested. Our next meeting is scheduled for this Thursday, March 21 from 11:30 am to 1:00 pm in the CSP Dining Hall.
