We Are God’s People

For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so it is with Christ. (1 Corinthians 12:12; ESV)

I was reading one of the books we use in our Masters of Business Administration (MBA) program the other day and it was making the point – reportedly from a research project – that many people are neither fulfilled nor excited in their jobs and they are not clear about where their organization is headed or what its highest priorities are. It made me think of our theme of the year – “we are God’s people” – and what it means for us as Concordia University.

It is comforting for me, and I trust for each of you as well, to know that we have a clear direction at Concordia University – one that is focused on preparing “students for thoughtful and informed living” and dedicated to being “an exemplary Christian university.” A direction that starts with Jesus Christ crucified and resurrected. What might not always be so clear is how we accomplish these goals – and, yes, it takes hard work. The good news is that if we recognize that we are all part of God’s people and that “we are one body” we’ve got a great head start – faculty, staff, and students – all of us working toward accomplishing the same goals. To God be the glory.

May God bless each of us richly so that we might be empowered to accomplish that which God has set before each of us in our lives of service.

Lonn Maly, Vice President for Academic Affairs

Theme for the 2011/12 Academic Year: “We are God’s people.”

The theme comes from a hymn text (set to a melody by Johannes Brahms from Symphony 4). The hymn is We are God’s People with references to Psalm 95: “Come let us sing to the Lord... We are God’s people and the sheep of His pasture.” Psalm 100 also includes similar words.

Daily Morning Chapel Schedule: 11:00 am to 11:20 am

NOTE: Evening Services are held Monday through Thursday at 10:00 pm

2011–2012 Book of the Year

The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks* by Rebecca Skloot has been selected as the CSP book of the year for the 2011/12 academic year.

From the author's website, <http://rebeccaskloot.com/the-immortal-life/>

“Her name was Henrietta Lacks, but scientists know her as HeLa. She was a poor black tobacco farmer whose cells – taken without her knowledge in 1951 – became one of the most important tools in medicine, vital for developing the polio vaccine, cloning, gene mapping, in vitro fertilization, and more. Henrietta's cells have been bought and sold by the billions, yet she remains virtually unknown, and her family can't afford health insurance.”

Dr. Rhoda Schuler Interview

Dr. Rhoda Schuler, term professor in the Department of Religion and Theology, was interviewed this week by reporter Sean Hamill of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette. The Post Gazette will be running a series of articles this month to mark the 10th anniversary of 9/11 and the Flight 93 Memorial Site near Shanksville, PA. Dr. Schuler was interviewed because of her research done in 2003 relating to the site and the local volunteers who welcomed and provided information for visitors the Flight 93 Temporary Memorial Site. According to Mr. Hamill, Schuler is one of only a handful of people who has done academic research on the memorial site. The Flight 93 National Memorial website (administered by the National Park Service) reports that over 130,000 people visit the site annually.

Dr. Kris Bransford and Dr. Angela Nippert Co-Author New Book

Dr. Kris Bransford and Dr. Angela Nippert joined with former CSP professor Dr. Karen Moroz to write Intentional Learning at its Best: Engaged Learning Strategies in Higher Education. Their book offers a unique perspective on intentional teaching in higher education with the goal of increasing instructors' skills that enhance student engagement, comprehension and motivation; and serves as a practical instructor-focused resource.

Dr. Bruce Corrie Contributes Articles Regarding Economic Impact of Immigrants

Dr. Bruce Corrie's research regarding immigrants and their impact on the American economy was featured in a Star Tribune article, Immigrants' Journey Led to Role as Entrepreneurs, on July 31 and an MPR News article, Group Plans to Submit Citizen Redistricting Plan, on July 29.

Dr. Thomas Saylor, History Professor, recently returned from a nine-day trip with Habitat for Humanity to Nicaragua, where he worked as a construction volunteer in the small town of Masachapa. This was Saylor's fourth trip to Central America with Habitat since 2007; he previously worked in Guatemala and twice in Honduras.

Celebrate Newest Book by Professor Eric Dregni on September 15

Professor Eric Dregni will give a free reading and slide show presentation from his newest book, Vikings in the Attic; In Search of Nordic America in the Buetow Auditorium on Thursday, September 15 from 5:30 – 7:00 pm. In Vikings in the Attic, Dregni tracks down and explores the significant—and quite often bizarre—historic sites, tales, and traditions of Scandinavia's peculiar colony in the Midwest. It's a legacy of the unique – shots of turpentine for the common cold – but also one of poor immigrants living in sod houses while their children attend college, the birth of the co-op movement, and government agents spying on Scandinavian meetings hoping to nab a socialist or antiwar activist.

Faculty Encouraged to Promote Graduate-Level Writing Assistance

Faculty are encouraged to inform graduate students that Professor Emeritus, Dr. Julie Jochum Gartrell, will be in the Writing Center Nook (Library location) this semester for individual appointments to discuss their writing. The hour-long sessions are available Tuesday evenings from 5:00 – 8:00 pm from September 13 through December 13 (except Nov. 8) by appointment only. Graduate students can make an appointment by contacting the Writing Center at 651-603-6233 or writingcenter@csp.edu.

Walcheski Participating in Thrivent Fellows Program

Dr. Michael Walcheski, Dean of the Graduate School, is this year participating in the Thrivent Fellows Leadership program designed to further develop leaders in the broader Lutheran higher education community. Walcheski has already participated in a 10-day Residential Leadership Retreat focused on Vocation and Lutheran Identity, Leader Development, and Financial Sustainability and Literacy and Operational Competencies. His “action learning project” will relate to developing a graduate program approval process for Concordia University. The experience will include further leadership retreats and trainings over the course of the year, including attendance at the Lutheran Educational Conference of North America (LECNA) annual meeting of Lutheran college and university presidents. Current University faculty members who have previously participated include Dr. Cheryl Chatman, Dr. Alan Winegarden, and Rev. Dr. David Lumpp. Others who have participated from CSP include Dr. Amy Gort and Dr. Marilyn Reineck.

A Perspective on the Importance of Lutheran Colleges

An excerpt from a recently-published book by Paul Dovre, long-time President at Concordia College, Moorhead:

“To live and teach and learn at a Lutheran church college means being committed to Christian purpose, striving to express Christian community, seeking to nurture and demonstrate a Christian lifestyle, fostering the academic study of religion, encouraging the search for truth, and engaging in a vigorous dialogue between faith and the world.”

Dovre, P. J. (2011). The cross and the academy: Occasional papers and addresses. Minneapolis, MN: Lutheran University Press; page 26.

New Course and Instructor Feedback Forms Available

Course and Instructor Feedback forms are now available online for all courses that end in September 2011. The Feedback form is available to students through the CSPConnect portal, on the Grades and Registration tab in the Personnel Data channel. Feedback forms are available for one week prior to the last day of class to one week after the last day of class. Results from the Feedback forms will be sent to the college deans during the first two weeks of the following month. For example, for all courses that end in September, results will be sent by mid-October. Faculty should inform students about the availability of the Feedback forms.

Attendance Monitoring Requirement

As has been noted at the Faculty Retreat, Orientations, etc., Concordia University, as a recipient of federal monies, is required to monitor student attendance. Based upon the current federal standards, regulations stipulate records be fully maintained by all instructors which can clearly identify last date of attendance. We are also obligated, as teaching faculty, to follow up with students not attending class and report students with excessive absences to Renee Rerko, Director of Traditional Advising. Send an email to Renee at Rerko@csp.edu or advising@csp.edu to report problem attendance. You need to notify Renee if:

- a student has not attended your class at all after the first week of the semester (by the end of the day on Wednesday, August 31)
- a student misses more than two weeks of class in a row

The student will then be contacted to better understand his or her intentions to remain a student at CSP. If you have any questions, feel free to contact Renee at rerko@csp.edu or 651-603-6318.

Please Put Classrooms “Back Together” and Close Classroom Doors

All faculty are asked to return classroom furniture to the planned arrangement and securely close the classroom doors when leaving. Remember, expensive equipment stays behind when you leave. NOTE: during humid weather, wooden doors sometimes do not close securely so we ask your help in ensuring that they are “latched and locked.” Please pass this message on to adjunct faculty in each department.

2011 Hmong Culture and Language Program

It is with a great deal of joy that Sally Baas and Nao Thao thank you for the support and encouragement you have provided for students and staff of the Hmong Culture and Language Program this summer, during our eighth season of camp, July 25 – August 5, 2011, entitled “Building Cultural Bridges.”

Students from around the world representing several local states and school districts participated in literacy, art, music, dance, science and nutrition, in addition to creating community art pieces, two of them under the direction of Professor Cate Vermeland, and CSP SEAT students Yer Yang, Lue Lor and Mai Nhia Vang a contemporary story cloth focused on “Hands Making a Difference for Others,” and a writing project using the chalkboard practice of Wing Young Huie. Additionally, CSP grad Mina Blyly Strauss, filmmaking instructor, led her students in creating a photo book of events during camp.

With a practice of recycle, reuse and conserve, the mobile Hmong house made a visit to the Gangloff Center for the second week of camp, where it was refurbished and available for students to tour, using the curriculum created by Nao Thao, Hmong Culture and Language Program Co-Director and May Lee Xiong, St. Paul School District teacher, and spend time hearing Hmong storytellers tell traditional Hmong tales. The Hmong house will return to Phalen Lake School, its winter home in the Hmong Museum there. Phalen Lake School rents the Hmong house from Hmong Culture and Language Program for each school year.

During the week, campers and staff participated in two service learning projects as a way to give back to the community in response to the many ways the community has supported the program. We also want to thank all the faculty and departments of the university who have supported our efforts. Space here does not afford the list of all the people who made this effort successful!! Thank you so much!

September 21 – CSP’s Mission in Action – led by CSP students, faculty, and staff Buenger Education Center, 11:45 am – 12:45 pm

Join us for a convocation around CSP’s mission and take a look into how it translates into our day-to-day activities. What do our students say makes CSP different from other colleges and universities? How do we serve both students and the community? In connecting to that mission, President Ries will share a progress report on the process of producing a CSP Promise Statement. He’ll invite you to share how the CSP mission affects you and others, using The Promise Statement to clarify what is true and not true about CSP. Come and explore what we do for others and what makes us unique, according to those who know the University best—our students, faculty, staff and alumni! For questions or input, please contact Joel Schuessler or Kelly Matthias.

October 5 – The "Dirt" on Hippos of the Decapolis: Student Perspectives on Problem-based Learning in a Faculty Research Project

Department of Theatre and Dance 2011

Upcoming Theatre Events

PHYSICAL COMEDY WORKSHOPS

The Concordia Department of Theatre and Dance will host two workshops by Argentinian-born artist Dario Tangleson on physical comedy acting. Dario first came to the United States as a Fulbright scholar, and has performed and taught in New York as well as locally at the Guthrie Theatre and the University of Minnesota BFA acting program. His work follows the traditions of Italian commedia dell'Arte, which uses broad physical gestures and improvisation to create theatre in a wholly new way. The first workshop will be held Monday, September 19, 7:00 – 9:00 pm in the Black Box Theatre. Because this is a very different form of acting, no previous theatre experience is necessary. Anyone from the campus community is invited, students, faculty, and staff. Contact Mark Rosenwinkel (rosenwinkel@csp.edu) if you have questions. We hope to see you there!

SHAKESPEARE UNDER THE STARS

Frauenshuh Amphitheatre – September 22, 2011, 10:00 pm

The Concordia Dept. of Theatre and Dance will hold its annual Shakespeare Under the Stars event Thursday, September 22 at the outdoor Frauenshuh Amphitheatre, starting with a bonfire at 10:00 pm. The event features acting scenes, poetry, dance and stage combat, inspired by the works of William Shakespeare. Everyone is invited to watch or share a selection from one of the plays or poems.

DRACULA – Adapted from Bram Stoker's novel by Steven Dietz

E.M. Pearson Theatre – October 20, 21, 22 at 7:30 pm and October 23 at 2:00 pm

A mysterious force is at work in the lonely mountains of Transylvania and in London, an unspeakable evil haunting blood and soul. It is the classic tale of the forces of faith and love battling the centuries-old vampire, Count Dracula. First published in 1897, the novel was a best-seller in its day, and its popularity has only grown since, retold hundreds of times in films and books. A retelling of the most popular Gothic horror novel of all time, this production will remain faithful to Bram Stoker's book while at the same time render it into an exciting theatrical event.

FACING SOUTH – A world premiere, adapted with the company by Dario Tangleson

Westlund Theatre – November 17, 18, 19 at 7:30 and November 19, 20 at 2:00 pm

An original creation based on stories by South American writers, this production will embody the spirit of magical realism to create an absurd world in which everything is possible: A man who vomits rabbits, a library containing all the world's knowledge, bizarre instructions on how to cry or climb a staircase. This production will feature a collaboration with local theatre artist Dario Tangleson, specializing in developing original pieces through a physical acting style in the spirit of Italian Commedia del'arte. Performed in the Westlund Black Box, Facing South will also be available for performances throughout the community and region.
